TITL
THE ELEANOR ROOSEVELT ORGANIZATION, aka
The Eleanor Club and The Daughters of Eleanor

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Information obtained that [redacted] Negro of Austin, Texas was a member of a club at Austin known as the Eleanor Club, but identity of [redacted] not established and original informant unable to obtain further information on the matter. Extensive inquiry among Negro informants in Austin fails to reflect that any organization such as this is active in Austin at present, although it was thought that such a group was existing in Houston, Texas.

DETAILS:

The title of this case is being changed to reflect other names by which the organization is known, namely, The Eleanor Club and the Daughters of Eleanor.

On September 26, 1942, a Negro at Austin, Texas, informed the writer that he had heard rumors to the effect that there was a Negro organization known as the Eleanor Club or the Daughters of Eleanor, whose members were agitating working conditions among the Negro domestics, and that he had heard that there was a chapter of this organization in Austin, the members of which were responsible for telephone calls to various households which were desirous of Negro help and in substance...
The calls reflected that the working conditions for Negro domestics as outlined by the person receiving the call were not satisfactory, and when Hitler was the white people would be working for the Negroes. It was also said that the slogan of this group was "A white woman in every kitchen before Christmas."

In an effort to determine the existence of such an organization, writer contacted a Negro domestic worker who later informed him that she had obtained information that a Negro domestic, who is the name of her Aunt, had advised her Aunt, who resided at ..., and was a member of a subject organization, the dues of which were $3.00 per month.

The writer contacted and she informed that the source of her information was Austin, who had made the statement at a human right meeting that had attended.

The writer contacted a negro maid who was no longer employed by her and had made the statement when questioned in Austin, that her Aunt, who was then, Austin, was a member of the ELEANOR CLUB at Austin, and that she paid three dollars a month dues to this organization. informed that had quit her employee to go pick cotton in West Texas, and that she did not know what her address was although she had driven around Austin in an effort to locate her residence address.

In this connection the writer determined that there is no address such as, Austin, Texas, and that the name does not appear in any of the Austin directories. also advised that her maid had advised her that was then in West Texas picking cotton, and did not know when, if ever, she would return to Austin.

The writer had the impression that is a flighty individual, and that perhaps her information could not be entirely relied upon.

The writer contacted Austin, who has a number of paid Negro informants and he advised that he would immediately advise these men to contact various sources in Austin in an effort to determine whether there was any organization such as this in the city of Austin.

later reported that his informants had made continuous inquiry up until November 11, 1942 and had determined definitely that there was no organization such as the "Daughters of Eleanor", "The Eleanor Roosevelt Organization or the Eleanor Club in Austin, although it had been rumored among the Negro people that there was such an organization in Houston, Texas.

Writer likewise contacted Negro Pastor of the Church, Austin, Texas, and head of the negro in Austin, and he informed that his group was entirely innocent and did not engage in any subversive activities, and did not know of any such organization in Austin.
Walter contacted [redacted] a Negro in Austin, who advised he had heard various rumors regarding the captioned organization, but that he was sure there was no such organization in Austin, and that if there was, it would certainly have come to his attention through one of the numerous sources of information that he had.

Captain [redacted], Head of the Bureau of Intelligence and Department of Public Safety, Austin, advised that from various sources of information he had received numerous reports of such an organization, but that he had no information that any such organization existed in Austin or the vicinity. Inquiry of Source of Information A and Source of Information B developed that they had not heard of the organization to date, but that they would immediately undertake an inquiry to determine if such an organization was in existence.

They both later reported that they had made extensive inquiry along the Negro neighborhood in Austin, but that there was no indication that there was any organization of this nature, nor had one been active in Austin in the past, nor were any of the Negroes contacted familiar with the organization, although there were rumors to the effect that such an organization had been started in other parts of the State of Texas.

Rumors received of existence of Eleanor Club in Jefferson Co., Miss. Investigation fails to reveal actual existence of such club.

AT LORMAN, MISSISSIPPI

[Name redacted] advised that pursuant to a previous request made of him, he had made numerous inquiries throughout the county, both among the negroes and the whites, concerning the existence of an Eleanor Club. He stated that he has resided in this vicinity all his life, was brought up among negroes and knows them as well as any white man could. He said that a large percentage of his patients are negroes and that most of them have the utmost confidence in him and keep him advised of all activities among the negroes in the county. He had asked many of them about the existence of an Eleanor Club and had particularly discussed the matter discreetly with the following negroes:

- A professor at [Name redacted] a negro college, for the past twenty years;
- A wealthy negro residing at Carlsle, Mississippi;
- A negro of the laboring class; and
- A World War Veteran, and a typical Southern negro who is constantly in contact with negroes throughout the county.

[Name redacted] advised that he is quite certain no such club exists in Jefferson County, although there may have been attempts to organize such a club. In his opinion the negroes of this county are quite loyal and are not interested in social equality with the whites. He stated that most of the negroes at the college are regularly buying war bonds and that they all are willing to assist in the war effort in any way that they can and would not take advantage of the situation to organize a club which would demand equal rights with white workers.

[Redacted] had told [Redacted] that there had been no agitation among the negroes for the organization of an Eleanor Club, and that if any such agitation cropped up, he and other loyal negroes in the county would immediately report the matter to the sheriff.

Subsequently the same information had been furnished by [Redacted] further advised that he personally contacts many of the negroes in this county inasmuch as he [Redacted], and he has found that most of the negro [Redacted] are much more patriotic than the white [Redacted]. He has made it a point of always asking [Redacted] how they felt about going to the Army and what they would like to do after they get into the Army. Nine out of ten of the negro [Redacted] state that they hate the Japs worse than anyone else and only want an opportunity to meet with the Japs. The doctor feels sure that there has been no agitation among these negroes along the line of telling them that the Japs are also of the colored race and are related to the negroes. The doctor stated that on every Friday at [Redacted], he treats negroes with venereal diseases and that he always engages them in conversation and learns about their activities. In his opinion, not one out of ten of the negroes in this county want social equality nor would one out of ten of them have anything to do with an organization such as the Eleanor Club. From all of his contacts and inquiries, he feels certain that such a club does not exist in Jefferson County.

AT FAYETTE, MISSISSIPPI

[Redacted] both stated that they do not believe that an Eleanor Club has been organized in Jefferson County. They have made inquiries concerning this among their negro informants throughout the county and feel that these informants are sincere in stating that no such club has been organized.

[Redacted] advised that they and their organization treated practically all of the negroes in Jefferson County and that they are always on the alert for any agitation or the organization of clubs among such negroes. From observation and inquiry made by them, they have come to the conclusion that no Eleanor Club exists in Jefferson County.
JAI 100-1309

In view of the above information furnished by men who are in a position to know of the existence of negro organizations, it is concluded that no Eleanor Club has been organized in Jefferson County and this investigation is being closed.

Re: "ELEANOR CLUBS"

This is in reply to your memorandum of December 27, 1942, requesting a suggested statement suitable for use in answering a letter dated December 21, 1942, from Mr. Walter White of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, concerning the captioned matter.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation received an allegation that the rumors of the existence of "Eleanor Clubs" originated from Nazi sources for the purpose of causing dissension. Accordingly, in each instance in which there has been brought to attention a report or an allegation of the existence of such a club, steps have been taken to trace the report or allegation to its source for the purpose of determining whether forces inimical to the best interests of the United States Government were involved. In no instance has an "Eleanor Club" been identified as actually existing or has the rumor been traced to any foreign source.

I believe the above statement of facts will serve as compliance with your request. The reference letter directed to the Attorney General is returned herewith.

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS: Complainant advised that he had definite knowledge of an ELEANOR CLUB in West Point, Mississippi. He admitted he had been repeating statements of others and had no knowledge of Club's existence. References furnished by him could furnish no information. At West Point, Miss., Chief of Police, Sheriff, Postmaster, Sec. Chamber of Commerce, Newspaper Publishers and others state no Eleanor Club in County.

DETAILS: At West Point, Mississippi, the Daily Times Leader, West Point, Clay County, West Point, had been in his office earlier in the day, and had stated that he had definite knowledge of the existence of an ELEANOR CLUB in West Point. He could furnish no additional information but stated that he would immediately forward any that he might receive to this office.

West Point, Advised he did not have definite knowledge of the existence of any Negro clubs in West Point, but that he had inferred as much as a result of a conversation with the above and both of Cedar Bluff, Mississippi. He had never noted anything which would indicate that such clubs existed other than what he had heard, but was of the belief they did, because of the reliability of the above named individuals. He could not recall the above as ever definitely stating that such clubs existed, or that the Negroes were receiving any teachings of an un-American nature.
At Cedar Bluff, Mississippi

[Redacted], Cedar Bluff, advised that he knew of no meeting other than religious meetings, being held by the Negroes. He knew of no clubs whatsoever and had never made any statements to the effect that such existed. He felt that the Negroes were more independent than they had been in the past, and that their attitude must be due to some outside influence.

[Redacted], Cedar Bluff, stated he could feel a change in the Negroes' attitude, but that he knew of no organization among them of any nature. He had heard ELEANOR CLUBS existed elsewhere in the state, but had no knowledge of any in that vicinity.

At West Point, Mississippi

[Redacted] Clay County, advised he had investigated every rumor that had been called to his attention and was convinced there were no Eleanor Clubs in Clay County.

[Redacted] advised she had several reliable Negroes employed in the Post Office and they had told her that there was no such organization to their knowledge in the County. The Negroes in Clay County are all "Country Negroes" and cause very little trouble. They are all willing to be drafted and go without complaint. There have been some disagreements as to Domestic labor, but these are all individual problems, and are not connected with any groups whatsoever.

[Redacted] advised he had received no additional information since the original complaint, and was of the opinion that the existence of such Clubs was based on groundless rumors.

[Redacted] advised he had never received any information regarding the existence of a ELEANOR CLUB which could be verified. He could not state definitely that there were no such clubs in Clay County but was of the opinion that there were none.

[Redacted] of Chamber of Commerce advised he was of the belief that the white people were responsible for all the talk about ELEANOR CLUBS inasmuch as they constantly discussed them in front of the Negro. Then when a Negro repeated some of the information he had overheard, the white people were certain that such clubs were in existence. He had never heard any concrete information on the matter.
Jnl. 100-1290

[Redacted] advised there were no ELEANOR CLUBS in Clay County to his knowledge.

[Redacted] the Daily Times Leader advised that although he did not know whether there was an ELEANOR CLUB or not in Clay County, the negroes appeared to be very well behaved, and not subject to any outside influence. There has been very little racial trouble in Clay County since the time the Red Cap Organization ceased being active.

The above mentioned individuals stated that upon receipt of any information regarding Negro agitation they would forward the same to the Jackson Field Division.

Since all logical leads have been covered in this investigation it is being closed upon the authority of the Special Agent In Charge.

While other informants indicate purpose to have servants dine with families they serve. No definite indication that such groups exist and stories apparently originate through widespread rumors.

DETAILS:

This investigation is predicated on the complaint of [redacted] who stated that his wife, and himself had heard quite a bit about the existence of so-called "ELEANOR CLUBS." According to the informant, several sources had mentioned to his wife and himself that negroes were organizing "ELEANOR CLUBS" whose motto was "No colored maid in the kitchen by Christmas." The informant advised that he did not know whether these sources were repeating rumors which they had heard or whether they had definite knowledge of the existence of such clubs. [Redacted] had told her husband that a woman taking the school census had made some remarks about these clubs. The informant also furnished the names of Washington, L. C. and Silver Springs, Maryland, as sources from which he had heard of the clubs.

In regard to his knowledge concerning such organizations, he said that Tacoma Park, Maryland, had had a negro maid named ANNIE, that he had been impressed with the consideration shown to ANNIE over a long period of time. He said that he had come from Staunton, Virginia and appeared to understand negroes. He related that she had secured the services of a physician whenever ANNIE had been ill and had also had him look to her spiritual needs. Despite the fact that ANNIE had received every attention from him, he said, the maid had become rebellious andullen and eventually quit. He advised that he learned through that ANNIE had been a member of a so-called "ELEONOR CLUB" whose motto was "No colored maid in the kitchen by Christmas." He was unable to furnish any further information with regard to the matter, but suggested that should be able to furnish complete details.

It should be noted that prior to the receipt of this complaint the Bureau advised the Washington Field office under date of September 30, 1942 that information had been received from through his wife, relative to the possible existence of such a club in the City of Washington. He had said that he heard through a fellow employee at the Radio Research Department of the Naval Research Laboratory that a neighbor of , the fellow employee, had had a maid who was a member of this organization.

This information was to the effect that the neighbor lady told her maid to prepare places for the evening dinner for four people. Upon examining the setting of the table she notices there were five places arranged and when she asked the maid the reason for setting a fifth place rather than the four she was advised by the maid that the maid was a member of an "ELEONOR CLUB" and that she was to eat with the guests that evening.

As shown in the report of dated November 20, 1942 at Washington, D.C. in the case entitled "FOREIGN INSPIRED AGITATION AMONG THE AMERICAN NEGROES IN THE WASHINGTON FIELD DIVISION; INTERNAL SECURITY - C" both and were interviewed in connection with this matter, but neither were able to furnish any additional information. Reluctantly advised that he had heard of the incident through his mother who had in turn learned of it from .

Accordingly was questioned concerning the matter, but she said that she had never heard of the story. The only that she could recall which might have given rise to the story that a few years before she had employed a negro boy whose name she present whereabouts she could not then recall, who had said some white people would permit him to eat with the family.

advised that she had not believed the boy, whom she knew to be an inveterate liar, but had questioned him about the matter. He had replied that a family living next door to would permit the boy to eat with them as he was not employed as their servant. said that she knew that such was not the case and had dismissed the matter from her mind. She could not account for the story reported by (whose identity was not revealed) unless it had originated with the incident just related by her.

Even prior to the above report, on July 24, 1942 the existence of some such club. According to this informant, who was not considered entirely reliable, the members of the so-called "ELEANOR CLUBS" had agreed to quit their employment, if any of their employers or their friends made a slurring reference to either the President or his wife. This informant was unable to give any further information with regard to the organizations, and no further investigation was conducted on the basis of her allegation.

It is also noted in the report of , Atlanta, Georgia, dated October 16, 1942 in the case entitled "ELEANOR UNION; INTERNAL SECURITY" that a complaint was received at LaGrange, Georgia that a negro cook had quit her job and stated that she had been ordered to do so by the "ELEANOR UNION" and that she had signed a pledge in her own blood and that any negro who took her job would be beat up by members of the group. A complete investigation of this matter as shown in this report revealed that the entire story was false as far as its having occurred at LaGrange, Georgia and that the story had apparently originated at Washington, D. C. and Birmingham, Alabama.

With regard to the origin of the story, at LaGrange Women's College, stated that while she was visiting a niece in Marietta, Pennsylvania, whose name she refused to divulge, she had attended a bridge party at a neighbor's home. She could not recall the name of the neighbor, but stated that at the party or a , she was not sure which, had told her that the wife of a retired Naval Officer in Washington, D. C. had said that her negro cook had suddenly quit her job. When asked for the reason for leaving the cook had said that she was a member of the "ELEANOR UNION" and that since on the previous night the Naval Officer's wife had guests who ridiculed the negroes it was her obligation to quit her job in compliance with the pledge which she had signed in blood. It stated that this story came to her in July, 1942 and that while she was returning to Georgia from Pennsylvania she went through Charlotte, North Carolina where she heard a similar story.

In view of the indefinite origin of this last mentioned story no effort was made to investigate it in this Field Division. It would appear, however, that the stories of the so-called "ELEANOR CLUBS" are the result of widespread rumors without foundation and fact. An effort will be made, however, to substantiate the existence of such an organization wherever any specific complaint is received.

No specific evidence developed of the existence of such clubs or organizations of any type among the negro maids. Discussions of this subject are predicated strictly on rumor and the individuals interviewed could not furnish any origin for these rumors.

DETAILS:

Maryland, advised that a neighborhood group which occasionally meets for social purposes has discussed on occasions what they felt would eventually become a very serious problem, namely, the negro situation. She could give no specific information as to why they felt this problem would in the future become acute, but did relate that most of the discussion was predicated upon incidents which have come to their attention wherein there have been difficulties arising on street cars and busses between the negroes and the whites in Washington. Further discussion of this problem was predicated upon articles which various members of this neighborhood group had read in the Republican magazine relating to the negro uprising rumor episode which occurred in Memphis a few months ago. She stated that in Washington, D. C., might be able to furnish some specific information relating to this alleged negro organization, due to the fact that she has heard him mention a negro own employee in the building housing his offices who has stated that the negroes were going to have their day and in time become equal with the white people. She could furnish no further information as to where the expression "Eleanor Club" originated or give any definite information of any type of organization which had for its purpose the gaining of equality for the negroes with the white people.

Maryland, stated that she had formerly employed a negro maid for approximately seven years who was a very loyal and capable servant. She said occasionally this negro maid would serve her breakfast while in bed and bringing to her the morning paper and that they for a few moments would discuss the headlines. In a very innocent manner stated this maid on infrequent occasions did mention that "it is coming soon" meaning trouble between negroes and the white people. However, stated that there was no information and indication given as to a negro organization which had for its purpose retaining equality between the whites and negroes or to create any riots or uprising among the negroes and the whites. stated that it was merely a rumor which had been discussed.

ELEANOR CLINBS

These clubs are an actual fact. They have been started at Washington and have spread out like a fan to other sectors. It seems as though some pressure has been put upon the F.B.I. not to dig into these very deep because Mrs. F.D.R. issued a statement that the F.B.I. had investigated them and there was nothing to it.

Eleanor has been playing ball with that crowd of negroes that Congressman Dies accuses of being Communists. We mean Mary Bethune, William Pickens, Bep Davis and a few others hanging around Washington.
SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Miss., advised Marshal that Eleanor Club had just been organized there, and that about two-thirds of the cooks in that vicinity belonged. It was stated that the members were not to report for work before 8 AM, were to enter by the front door, and were to receive an increase in pay. Names of organizers and members unknown. A mass meeting was called by city authorities and negroes were ordered to straighten this matter out. Since that time no indication of any club activities and authorities feel certain organization not in existence.

DETAILS:

This investigation is predicated upon the receipt of rumors of an Eleanor Club having been formed in Webster County, Mississippi. It was advised that two or three months ago there was such a rumor in existence in this County and that it had been brought about by a statement made to the City Marshal at Eupora, Mississippi, by a selectee who had been arrested by the Marshal for impudence to the Clerk of the Draft Board. According to the understanding of this negro had told the Marshal about an organization of negro maids for the purpose of better hours and better pay. This negro was later carried over to the Delta and has not been in this vicinity since.

The sheriff stated that he himself had no definite information concerning this incident, and that since that time things had been very quiet among the negroes.
in that county, inasmuch as they had been ordered to straighten the matter out themselves or else the whites would straighten it out for them. The Sheriff suggested that the City Marshal of Eupora would be able to give the full story concerning this matter.

A groceryman in Eupora, advised that he has no personal knowledge concerning the above described incident, but that he had attended the mass meeting called by the whites, to which a few of the leaders among the negroes had been invited, and at this meeting the negroes were told that it had been rumored that there was an organization among them which they had better straighten out themselves or it would be handled by the whites in their own way. The negroes appeared to be cooperative and only one of them, a negro by the name of _\text{...}_ offered to make any statement whatever. However, he was not allowed to do so and the negroes have said nothing about the matter since that time.

Also of Eupora, advised that the only knowledge that he had of this organization was what he had been told by _\text{...}_ He felt that this organization, whatever it was, was purely a local matter and that any ideas the negroes had for organizing they had obtained from reading negro newspapers obtained from negroes who had gone north and had returned to the South and from negroes who were soldiers and who had received more or less equal treatment with white soldiers in the camps. He feels certain no one had been agitating among the negroes in that community or stirring them up in any way. He expressed the opinion that the negroes in that County were very good and he would put them up against negroes anywhere. He feels that the City Marshal now has the situation well in hand and that no organization is now in existence.

Approximately three or four months ago, one of the clerks at the Local Draft Board called him and told him that _\text{...}_, a negro selectee, had become impudent when she reprimanded him for appearing five days late for induction. _\text{...}_ arrested this negro, who told him that an Eleanor Club had just been organized in that vicinity and that about two-thirds of the cooks belonged to it, while the others would have nothing to do with it. To the best of _\text{...}_ recollection, _\text{...}_ had mentioned a few names, but the only one he remembered was a woman by the name of _\text{...}_, who left the same night with _\text{...}_.

brother when they were escorted from town. As _, told it to the negroes were not to go to work before 8 AM, were to to enter by the front door and were not to work unless they received so much pay. _ had furnished this information to the Mayor, who had immediately called a mass meeting of the white citizens of Eupora, and had invited a few of the leaders among the negroes. At this meeting the negroes were told that this was a white South and will remain that as long as it exists. They were warned to straighten this matter out among themselves or the whites would handle it their own way.

According to _, the negroes "really got right, and those who did not get right left town". Since that time everything has been tranquil. _ stated that he is well acquainted with the situation and feels certain that there was no foreign inspired agitation involved. He is positive that no organization is now in existence and that the organization mentioned above existed for only about two weeks. He stated that he has some very reliable informants among the negroes who kept him advised on such matters and that he therefore knows that this club nor any similar club is now not in existence in this vicinity. He promised to advise this office if any indication of such an organization again arose.

in the office of the County Agent, advised that with the exception of the above incident, there is not now and has been, no indication of an Eleanor Club being formed in Webster County, and that there has been no agitation among the negroes in that County.

In view of the above information, no further investigation is being conducted in this matter, and the case is being closed.

AT SELMA, ALABAMA:

[Redacted] advised that she is supervisor of all nursing activities; that none of the nurses on either the day or night shift had mentioned to her anything relative to ELEANOR CLUBS that any of the negro employees of the hospital might belong to. She stated that as far as she knows these clubs are not in existence in Selma and further that none of the negro employees at the hospital have given any trouble or indicated that they intended to quit or strike for higher wages because they are members of such clubs.

[Redacted] advised that the hospital employs about eight negroes, four of whom are male orderlies and four of whom are maids; that none of them have ever given any trouble whatsoever or indicated, as far as he knows, to anyone that they intended to quit their jobs because they are members of the subject organization. He advised that he heard rumor to the effect that subject organization is in existence in Selma, but believes to be mere idle gossip as nothing specific has ever developed.

[Redacted] at the King Memorial Hospital, advised that the hospital employs the following negroes:

[Redacted] advised that he has heard several rumors of the existence of ELEANOR CLUBS in the past; that during the summer of 1942 he received numerous complaints to the effect that the negro maids and cooks were members of this club. He advised that both he and his men have made an exhaustive investigation to determine if such clubs were in existence in Selma, but to date he has not been able to uncover any activity on the part of the Negroes which might lead him to believe that there is any such thing as an ELEANOR CLUB in Selma. The Chief advised that in his opinion the ELEANOR CLUBS have not advanced beyond the stage of idle rumor and gossip. He states, however, that he is constantly on the lookout for any indication that anyone is trying to organize subject organization in Selma.

Inasmuch as investigation has failed to indicate that subject organization is in existence in Selma, or that the employees of the Kin Memorial Hospital are members of such an organization, no further investigation is being conducted and this case is being closed upon the

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

HUNTINGTON, WEST VIRGINIA

FILE NO. 100-2570

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Confidential Informant advised of existence of an organization of Negro women in Charleston, W. Va., known as the ELEANOR CLUB and having potentially subversive members and ideals. Investigation does not substantiate allegation. File being closed.

DETAILS: This investigation is predicated upon information received from Confidential Informant T-1 to the effect that one in Charleston, West Virginia, had advised T-1 that there existed in the city of Charleston, West Virginia an organization of Negro women known as the ELEANOR CLUB, and that this Club had a potentially subversive membership and ideals.

The investigation further revealed that one in Charleston, West Virginia, and who resides at West Virginia, was formerly employed in household as a domestic servant. Advised that some time during the summer of 1942 he began to get independent and did a great deal of talking around the household of the rights of colored people, but stated that the members of the family paid very little attention to this talk. Inasmuch as he was performing his duties as a domestic servant satisfactorily, continued talking along the lines of equal rights of the colored people and finally stated that she was not going to take orders any longer. Stated that as a result of the adamant attitude adopted by stated that he had heard the name "ELEANOR CLUB" mentioned somewhere, and he believed it was in the capacity of the title of a colored women's organization. He further stated that he had mentioned a club to which she belonged on various occasions, and thought that this might be identical with the ELEANOR CLUB. He pointed out, however, that he was not sure of this and, in fact, was not certain that he had actually heard the name ELEANOR CLUB mentioned by the former domestic servant, advised that one in the city of Charleston, had organized a club or group of colored domestic employees. He stated that the purpose for which this club was organized was for the betterment of colored domestic employees, and also for the purpose of seeking shorter hours and higher wages for such domestic employees. stated that he had no knowledge of the name of this organization but thought that it might be the ELEANOR CLUB mentioned previously.

mentioned above, advised her that her husband had advised her that he had been interviewed relative to the existence of the ELEANOR CLUB in Charleston, West Virginia, and she stated that he had told her that he had indicated that had stated that she belonged to a club, thought by to be the ELEANOR CLUB. pointed out that this was inaccurate, and she stated that the reference to the ELEANOR CLUB was not made by at all. pointed out that she had been talking one day with a Charleston, West Virginia, by whom had been formerly employed, and when she had told her of the trouble she was experiencing with advised that said, "I guess belongs to the ELEANOR CLUB like so many of them." pointed out that to the best of her knowledge had never mentioned the existence of any club known as the ELEANOR CLUB, and pointed out further that the only person that she has ever heard mention the ELEANOR CLUB was the aforementioned and pointed out that made this remark in casual conversation when the question of becoming rather independent was mentioned. stated that she had no knowledge of the existence of any club known as the ELEANOR CLUB in Charleston, West Virginia.

of the Building Custodian Department, United States Court House, Charleston, West Virginia, colored, advised that while he is quite familiar with all clubs existing for the Negro people in Charleston, West Virginia, he has never heard of any organization calling themselves the ELEANOR CLUB or any name similar to the name ELEANOR CLUB. check into the matter and did so. He was re-interviewed and again stated that he has no knowledge of any organization known as the ELEANOR CLUB.

Charleston Police Department, Charleston, West Virginia, advised that he has never heard of the existence of any club of Negro women or, in fact, of any club in Charleston, West Virginia known as the ELEANOR CLUB.

Charleston Police Department, Charleston, West Virginia, advised that he has never heard of any organization in Charleston, West Virginia known as the ELEANOR CLUB.

who is Manager of the Ferguson Theatre on Washington Street, Charleston, West Virginia, which theatre is a colored theatre, advised that he is in rather close contact with the colored situation in Charleston, West Virginia, inasmuch as the moving picture house which he manages caters exclusively to the colored people. advised that he has never heard of the existence of any club known as the ELEANOR CLUB.

Charleston, West Virginia, advised that during the summer of 1941, in her of the Public Service Committee of the Charleston Y.W.C.A., she was instrumental in organizing a committee to investigate the living and wage conditions of colored domestic servants in the Charleston, West Virginia area. pointed out that the work of this committee in no way involved the formation of any organization of any sort and stated that she herself has never heard of the existence of any club known as the ELEANOR CLUB, although she stated that all of her life she has been more or less interested in the Negro problem. She said that she herself was born in Mississippi and was, therefore, definitely a Southerner but stated further that in her opinion the lot of the Negro was a rather unenviable one. She further stated that one of the purposes of the committee mentioned above was to organize a school in which young Negroes might train to perfect themselves as domestic servants. She advised that the committee passed out questionnaires to domestic workers requesting that they complete them, showing the number of hours worked, wages per day a week received, and generally, the living conditions in the life of the average colored domestic servant in the Charleston area. She pointed out that it had been impossible to establish the school in which young colored girls could train for positions as domestic servants, inasmuch as the wage level has risen in Charleston to such an extent that the average individual who formerly worked as a domestic servant is now employed in war plants.

It is noted that appears to be a woman of refinement and culture, and she is known and highly respected in the city of Charleston.

Inasmuch as the original information in this case appears to have been based on inaccurate information, and inasmuch as there is no indication from the investigation that any ELEANOR CLUB exists in the city of Charleston, West Virginia, no further investigation is anticipated in this matter, and the case is being closed.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. LADD

By reference from the Director's Office, I accepted a call from the office of Senator Davis and talked to Miss Becker who wanted information concerning Eleanor Clubs.

Miss Becker stated that in connection with juvenile delinquency, they called the Children's Bureau and had been referred to the FBI. She further stated that friends of the Senator working with young juvenile delinquents in questioning them, were told about some regulations governing those who belonged to the Eleanor Clubs.

Miss Becker was particularly interested in learning the head of the organization and securing copies of their rules and regulations which she believed may have been of such a nature that they might be responsible for some of the juvenile delinquency.

I informed Miss Becker that I would refer her inquiry to the proper Division. She can be reached on Extension 893, Capitol.

Respectfully,

Please be good enough to tell me the results of your investigation into the existence of the so called 'kleanor Clubs' in the country. I recall reading in the papers within the last weeks that you had not found any such clubs of this is so I am anxious to know. I find the constant chatter among uninformed persons about the existence of these clubs a bore & dangerous. I wish to be able to accurately say there are no such clubs, if this is your finding.

Thanking you in advance

[Handwritten text redacted for privacy]
It has been reported from usually reliable sources, that [redacted] was under surveillance and picked up affidavits from one who was arrested and later taken, back in 1921, to the effect that certain affidavits at that time had been concealed in this perjury, by none other than [redacted].

Ford at this time was convicted of discrimination, etc., and had to pay back wages of over one million dollars.

This has reportedly been done for the sole purpose of not continuing the Union contract, when the present one expires with the C. I. O. This will start off a fight to break up the Union for good, and to show that the government had a part in forcing the issue.

If this is so, has started a big issue, which may prove very interesting, and also may cause a lot of trouble.

[redacted] is also reported to have had a [redacted] from the I. Y. Blues Club, here with him, who was also taking a shot at [redacted]. This may also touch off a fight against [redacted] in a big way, but understand that [redacted] has already been to the F. B. I., warning them that some similar action was being taken, and that he wished some sort of protection against any unfair attacks. ???

The colored situation seems to be moving tense again, and it is also reported that the Junior Club is advocating unrest and trouble, but so far have not been able to obtain the exact address of the Club head.

It is understood that the F. B. I. followed down some leads on cigarettes that had been sold throughout the plants, relative to the recent truck robbery here. They proceeded in a fashion of police questioning and asking the sellers to take them to their source of supply, which they readily did, and established the fact that they had bought their supply from legitimate sources. However, it was not established where else they may have bought an amount of cigarettes, and these men will no doubt stay away from any other sources for some time to come, as they figure they are being watched. THIS MAY NOT BE OF ANY IMPORTANCE DUE TO THE FACT THAT ALL OF THE STOLEN PROPERTY HAS BEEN LOCATED points THIS PROCEDURE DID STOP ANY CHECKING THOSE MEN.

Two Jackson Negroes Jailed

As Chief Suspects In Rape

Two Jackson negroes late last night were lodged in city jail as key suspects in the brutal criminal assault of a 22-year-old white girl Monday night in Battlefield Park.

One of the negroes filled the description given by the young woman after her brutal assault and the other was said to closely answer her description. However, the negroes were not questioned last night. They were returned from Meridian where they had been arrested early Tuesday morning on a drunk charge. They were not told that they resembled the rapists. The two men are scheduled for a thorough questioning this morning.

The girl was criminally assaulted by two negroes at about 8:30 Monday as she hurried along a concrete walk through the unlighted park en route to the General Electric Plant where she worked. The daughter of a prominent Mississippi family was held captive for approximately 90 minutes and threatened with death by the ill-kept, swaggering rapists.

When she gained her freedom and reported the crime to Jackson police an all-out hunt for the criminals was instigated.

The girl, hysterical and bruised, was taken to police headquarters early Tuesday morning. She scanned the faces of some 10 negroes who had been picked as suspects. Failing to identify her assailants among the group, the negroes were released.

However during the day other suspects were picked up in Jackson, Rankin County and other parts of the state. Some of these gave questionable answers and were locked up in city jail for further interrogation.

Painstakingly combing the Battlefield Park area, Jackson's detective bureau found the keen-edged knife which the girl said the negroes were trying to remove her throat during the four assaults.

They also found an army belt, believed to have been worn by one of the negroes, and a paper bag containing two empty whiskey bottles. Both the rapists had been drinking, the girl told police. The victim's purse, containing $3 in cash, including a $2 bill, was found to the shrubs.

As law enforcement agents vowed their determination to locate the rapists, Jackson Police Chief J. D. Holden issued a plea to law-abiding negroes. He asked them to cooperate in every way with officers and report any rumor or clue. Pointing out that it was their duty as decent members of the community, Holden said their reports would be held confidential.

According to authorities, the two negroes had concealed themselves in the bushes for some time before their attack. The girl was late for work and she was running down the walkway when they jumped from behind the brush and reached for her. She screamed and fled through the park, but was overtaken and knocked to the ground. One of the negroes placed his hand over her mouth and the other menaced her with his knife. They dragged her across the open space to the old Civil War battlefield trenches. Then each negro criminally assaulted her as the other gagged her with a piece of cotton.

her. They decided to carry her deeper into the woods. Approximately 200 yards to the southwest the negroes again assaulted their victim.

Fled South

One of the negroes, about 5 feet 6 inches in height, told his companion that they should split her throat. The negroes asked the girl if she had lived in Mississippi all her life, her name and her address. She gave false answers. The taller of the negroes, about 6 feet in height, argued against murdering their prostrate, bleeding victim.

As they debated, the shorter negro boasted that he did nothing but "rape white women and hold up banks." He said he had a 1946 Pontiac and that he lived in Brookhaven. Both of these statements were given as phony clues, in the opinion of police.

The smaller, arrogant negro told his companion to stay with the girl until he got his car. He was gone about five minutes and the two negroes then tied the girl's feet. They fled south through the woods toward Highway 81.

Gives Description

The girl finally untied her bonds and staggered to the home of Mrs. J. C. Helene, 622 Winter Street. She was hysterical and her clothing was torn and muddy. Her face bore several scratches.

Dr. E. G. Ross and the General Electric's physician, Dr. Robert B. McClain, examined the young woman at a local hospital and in a report to police said the girl has been criminally assaulted.

She is expected to remain in the hospital for several days. She described her assailants as about 25 to 30 years of age. Both were dressed in khaki clothes and wore army field jackets.

ELEANOR CLUB
LAUREL, MISSISSIPPI

Reference is made to my memorandum dated May 1, 1947 requesting that inquiries be conducted in the vicinity of Laurel, Mississippi with regard to the captioned club. Inasmuch as a reply does not appear to have been received in this matter, you are requested to give the desired investigation your prompt attention.

June 28, 1947
TO: Director, FBI
FROM: SAC, New Orleans
SUBJECT: ELEANOR CLUB

LAUREL, MISSISSIPPI

Rebutlet May 1, 1947, which transmitted to this office a copy of a letter signed by "Joe Hood of the Eleanor Club" together with a news clipping which were furnished the Boston Office by Mr. CEDRIC FOSTER, Yankee Network news analyst.

An inquiry has been made in the vicinity of Laurel, Mississippi by a Resident Agent at that place, to determine if any organization similar to the one described in the letter to Mr. FOSTER existed, and further to determine, if possible, the identity of "Joe Hood".

In this connection, you are advised that a check of current and past city and telephone directories fail to reveal that a person by the name of JOE HOOD resides in the city of Laurel, Mississippi. There are several "HOODS" listed in the city directory and it was determined through a general inquiry that this is quite a common name in a section of rural Jones County. In both instances these persons are of the white race. In neither instance was it determined to be a member of the negro race by the name of JOE HOOD. It is pointed out, however, that no extensive investigation was conducted to determine the identity of the author of the letter to Mr. FOSTER.

Both of Laurel, advised that they have not heard any rumors or received any concrete evidence to indicate the existence of one of the so-called Eleanor Clubs, or any other organization or movement whose purposes are similar to the Eleanor Club. Neither did these officers have any information as to the existence of any group as described in the letter to Mr. FOSTER.

A representative number of reliable negro and white informants and sources of information were contacted for the same purpose as the contact with the Laurel offices, but the results were negative. All of these persons stated that they had heard of rumors of Eleanor Clubs in 1942 and 1943, but that they had never received any rumors that such an organization existed in this particular vicinity. Those interviewed likewise stated that they had not received any information or rumor as to any group whose purpose was similar to that described in the FOSTER letter.

From the interview with the above-named law enforcement officers and from a search of official records in Jones County, Mississippi, it was determined that no unusual number of rapes or related crimes have occurred in that vicinity. Specifically, there has been but one rape case in recent years wherein the subject was a member of the negro race. This case involves one who has been twice convicted of the rape of a white woman at Laurel, Mississippi. This case is pending for the second time on appeal to the Supreme Court of Mississippi. This crime occurred in 1945. During 1946 there were two rape cases in the vicinity of Laurel, but in each instance the subject was a white man and in one case the victim was a five-year-old negro child. The subject of both these latter cases are presently in the penitentiary following conviction on these charges.

It is pointed out that the rape case reflected in the news clipping forwarded to Mr. FOSTER relates to one occurring at Jackson, Mississippi during the past year, which is at this time unsolved.

In conclusion, it is pointed out that extensive investigation previously conducted in 1943 by the Jackson Office failed to indicate the actual existence of one of the Eleanor Clubs in this area, and current investigation likewise fails to substantiate the existence of one; further, that current investigation fails to indicate the existence of any racial condition of an explosive nature.

Unless advised to the contrary, no further investigation is contemplated in instant matter, but the Bureau will be promptly advised should any matter arise which might result in an explosive situation.

Re: PICKETING OF MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT AT UNITED NATIONS CONVENTION, MIAMI BEACH, FLORIDA AUDITORIUM, OCTOBER 26, 1961

The following information was received from a source who has furnished reliable information in the past:

On September 25, 1961, and October 2, 9, 16, and 23, 1961, the Florida States Rights Party held meetings at the address of the President of that group, JAMES KEITHLEY, 5318 N. W. 17th Avenue, Miami, Florida.

Discussed at these meetings was a convention which is to be held in Miami Beach, Florida, on October 26, 1961, which has to do with the United Nations convention. Mrs. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT is a scheduled speaker at this convention on October 26, 1961. A plan was formulated at the above meetings to picket Mrs. ROOSEVELT on the outside of the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Source advised that the writing on the placards to be carried by the picketers is as follows:

"Comrades, Mrs. Roosevelt, Russia, Red China"

"Eleanor Says: UN First, US Last"

"Eleanor Roosevelt, Master of Deceit"

Source advised that the Florida States Rights Party, the John Birch Society, and the Americans for Action Party would participate in the picket, and that they expected 25 to 50 persons from each group to participate in the picket.
Source said the arrangements are that the members of the Florida States Rights Party are to meet at KEITHLEY's address at 6:30 p.m. on October 26, 1961, and they are to proceed to the Miami Beach Auditorium and start picketing at 7:00 p.m.

Source advised that there has been no discussion or designation as to which persons are to carry placards.

Source advised that the following persons from the Florida States Rights Party have indicated they would participate in the picket:

Source advised that at the picket the pamphlet entitled, "Eleanor's Red Record" would be distributed to the audience.

The following were contacted on October 25, 1961, and were furnished the above information:

Miami, Florida, Intelligence Corps Groups, Miami, Florida, Intelligence Division, Dade County Department of Public Safety (Sheriff's Office), Miami, Florida, and Miami Beach Police Department, Miami Beach, Florida.

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

A Founder and Honorary Chairman of
"AMERICANS FOR DEMOCRATIC ACTION"
(better known as the "A.D.A.")

PRICE: FIFTY CENTS
"MOST ADmIRE D WOMAN"

Every year around Christmas-time, the Gallup Poll conducts an annual popularity contest, assigning reporters to put this question to a cross-section of the American public: "What woman that you have heard or read about, living today in any part of the world, do you admire the most?"

Last year, for the eleventh time, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was a shoe-in winner. What does this prove? Just this: In a society where a pro-Communist atheist and criminal sex-pervert like the late Caryl Chessman can be built up into a great national hero and an international martyr through the power of the Communist-kept press, it proves only that it is possible to build up almost anyone as a public idol.

However, certain peculiar activities of Mrs. Roosevelt deserve a great deal more publicity than they have heretofore received. Time after time, she has gone out of her way to endorse or to give assistance to known Communists. Take the case of her notorious endorsement of Alger Hiss, in her column of August 16, 1948. "Smearing good people like Alger Hiss and Lashin Currie [both Soviet espionage agents] is, I think, unforgivable. ... Anyone knowing either Mr. Currie or Mr. Hiss, who are two people whom I happen to know fairly well, would not need any denial on their part to know they are not Communists. Their records prove it."

Eleanor Roosevelt is unmistakably the wheel-horse of the Democratic Party. Without her aid, no aspirant to the Democratic Presidential nomination is supposed to stand a ghost of a chance. Her political moves pivot from a base centered within the organization known as Americans for Democratic Action (ADA). She was one of the ADA's founders and is its honorary chairman and one of its supreme potentates. Knowing her long pro-Communist record, it is inconceivable that any of the sycophantic Democratic Presidential aspirants currently clustering around this Queen Bee of the ADA could be unaware of their public responsibility to repudiate her endorsement.

GUIDELINES FOR ACTION

1. Write your Congressman and urge him to protest strongly against any attempt to abolish the House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC).

2. If you are a Democrat, write to the Democratic National Committee and inform them that you will not vote for any Democratic Presidential Candidate who does not categorically repudiate the endorsement of Eleanor Roosevelt.

3. Challenge Eleanor Roosevelt's phony "prestige" and her red-generated publicity wherever it appears - especially in the newspapers which publish her columns. Write the editor and call his attention to her unparalleled Communist-front record, as documented in this issue and in the dossier "ELEANOR'S RED RECORD."

4. If the Democratic Presidential Candidate you favor has any taint of Roosevelt-endorsement, write him and ask him to repudiate this endorsement—or get out. This may be your last opportunity to keep a Communist-fronter out of the White House.

5. Speak out now, and all through the coming election campaign — especially prior to and during the National Conventions of both parties — against any candidate who is soft on Communism. (Even the political opportunists will bow to public opinion — if the public makes its opinions crystal-clear.)
KE. TO CITATIONS

Citations from 1 through 86:

Numbers 2 and 39 are the same organization but different citations. Number 34 is described in the source given (in parentheses after 34) as a primarily pacifist endeavor; GCE (which reproduced AP & FLIC hearings — see citation 14) cited 34 as a "communist affiliation" on p. 42 (Vol. 1), and LLIC — see citation 3 — cited 34 as a "communist front" on p. 47 (Part 1).

Citation Number 6 may be properly described as an enterprise which Eleanor Roosevelt initiated with others and which was publicized by the ACPCB (citation 3); 6 was also cited as communist by GCE and LLIC (see above). Number 66 was cited in the parenthetical source after 66 as a "pro-CP theatrical enterprise" which produced "the party-line theatrical production" named.

The primary sources for all citations follow immediately after the name of the organization, enterprise, or publication named; the parenthetical sources at the end of each citation are the governmental (national or state) or other official publications which have named and cited the communist-fronts listed. When no parentheses follow the citation, the source is the original letterhead, release, newspaper clipping, etc., and the designation of the organization named as a communist-front may be found below in this explanation.

There are 49 separate and distinct organizations, enterprises, and publications named in the list of 86 citations. The sources citing these 49 — given below — apply equally, of course, to the additional affiliations listed under many of the citations. (For example, under number 18 — the American Youth Congress (AYC) — which lists the earliest affiliation of Eleanor Roosevelt with that organization, there are to be found an additional fourteen affiliations or evidences of support by Eleanor Roosevelt of the AYC — numbers 19 through 32 — listed in chronological order.) Abbreviations used in the citation may always be traced back to the original full title in an earlier citation.

In the major sources for the designation of each of the 49 organizations, etc., which are named as communist-fronts (listed below) the use of an asterisk(*) indicates that the organization is on the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations. The full title of Appendix IX (IX) is given under citation number 1. Guide (G) refers to the HUAC Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications (January 2, 1957). Source (S) means that the source listed in parentheses after the citation also contains the designation of that particular organization as a communist-front.

Citations Numbers 87 through 120:

These citations are representative of Eleanor Roosevelt's brazen activities from 1927 to 1960, a span of 33 years. The earliest is Number 113, the latest is Number 117. Numbers 88 and 115 are cited "communist-fronts" and should properly be added to the previous 86 "hard-core" citations, making a total of 88, but have been placed in the second category (radical, socialist, pacifist and "mixed-breed" organizations) because of the fact that their "communist-front" complexion — as cited — is little known, even to authorities. There are 28 separate and distinct organizations, enterprises and publications represented in this list, which, when added to the 49 listed above, total 77 with which Eleanor Roosevelt has been affiliated, or about two-thirds of the 120 citations listed in this report.

NEW YORK — Just at this time, when many of us have felt that the individual was losing many of his rights, it is encouraging to note the decisions of the Supreme Court upholding the Constitutional freedoms.

The Court—at least the majority on it—seems to have redefined the ancient idea that its function is to guard the rights granted to our people in the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. This it has done in reversing the conviction of John T. Watkins, labor leader, and the freeing of five California Communist leaders convicted under the Smith Act and the granting of a new trial for nine others.

I also am glad that, after his long fight, John Stewart Service, former Foreign Service officer, won a reversal of the judgment of the Court of Appeals which in June, 1956, held that Mr. Service had been rightfully dismissed as a security risk.

When you study the way the different Court justices acted in reversing the Communist leader's convictions, you find certain differences in their reasoning.

For instance, two of them, Justices William Black and William C. Douglas, felt that the Smith Act is unconstitutional. I have not the space to discuss the legal points, but I think it is well worth everyone's time to read the varied opinions.

I for one, am glad that the Court has handed down a decision which forever bars any Smith Act indictment under the "organize" section. The word "organize" was being construed in its narrow sense, meaning that simply bringing a Communist group into being was found to be cause for indictment. The Court held the Communist Party had been organized in its present form by 1954 at the latest and that, in 1951 when the indictment was brought against the leaders, the three year statute of limitations had run out.
The attached letter from Muste concerns the Internal Security Subcommittee re the Communist Party in February. Muste states the Director not only has attached a label to him for which there is no basis but one which is directly and completely contrary to the record of the past 20 years or more. Muste submits that the Director should immediately take out of the record the allegation that Muste has "long fronted for Communists." Muste states if Director should have time to discuss these matters with him on a personal basis, he would appreciate it.
HONORABLE J. EDGAR HOOVER
Chief, Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D.C.

Dear Sir:

The New York Post of March 20, 1957, reported that you had put into the record of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee a document bearing the label "United States Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation."

The document contained the following statement referring to the undersigned in connection with the convention of the Communist Party held in February:

"The Communists boasted of having 'impartial observers' cover the convention. However, most of these so-called 'impartial' observers were handpicked before the convention started and were reportedly headed by A.J. Muste, who has long fronted for Communists and who recently circulated an amnesty petition calling for the release of Communist leaders convicted under the Smith Act. Muste's report on the convention was as biased as could be expected. On the other hand, an observer whom the party did not handpick and who was more objective, Carl Machlin, of the American Civil Liberties Union, has stated that the arguments for democracy within the Party 'were merely tactical and designed to fool the public.'"

So far as the record at my disposal goes your allegation that I have "long fronted for Communists" is based on two corroboratively very recent happenings: 1) my participation as an "observer" at the Communist Party convention in February and my activity in getting others to serve in a similar capacity; 2) the fact that I helped to circulate a petition which was sent to President Eisenhower at Christmas time 1955 and which asked for amnesty for Communists convicted under the Smith Act and a suspension of prosecution in the case of other accused under the Smith Act, pending a review of the latter, which the Supreme Court of the United States was then preparing to make. I shall refer to both these matters in a moment.

First I wish to refer to my attitudes and activities in this field prior to December 1955 which in your opinion appear to furnish a basis for characterizing me publicly as one who "has long fronted for Communists."
You have not only attached a label to me for which there is no basis but one which is directly and completely contrary to the record of the past twenty years and more. After several years of service as Director of the Presbyterian Labor Temple, New York, I became National Secretary of the Christian pacifist fellowship of Reconciliation in 1940. I served in that capacity until reaching retirement age in September 1953. Since then I have continued active as Secretary Emeritus.

Not only was I not connected with any Communist fronts during all these years but I took a leading part as the executive of the P.U.A. in analyzing and exposing the dangerous and fraudulent character of "united fronts" and in persuading the P.U.A. groups both here and in other countries not to take part in such activities as the World Council of Peace and its affiliated groups, the Stockholm Peace Petition, etc. What criticism there has been in pacifist and other peace groups during those years was to the effect that I was too "rigid" and perhaps "unreconciling" about such matters.

The P.U.A. at the same time has stoutly defended the civil liberties of Communists as well as all others, and of course with my hearty approval. From the beginning the National Council of P.U.A. has opposed the Smith act and prosecutions under it as violating American traditions and as the wrong and ineffective way to combat the evils of communism.

When P.U.A. or I personally have acted in this field of civil liberties, however - as in a Rosenberg petition a few years ago and the Smith act amnesty petition - we have scrupulously avoided acting through, or with organizations or committees that might be suspected as "fronts", but have acted independently, making it clear in each case that we were opposed to Communism and were defending the rights of those with whom we disagree, not of those with whom we agreed and were collaborating.

You have made a grave charge against me and my record. You are undoubtedly aware of the fact that your word in such matters as this carries more weight probably than that of any other person in our country. I respectfully submit that you should immediately take out of the record the allegation that I have "long fronted for Communists".

I turn now to the question of "impartial observers" at the C.P. convention. I am informed by Norman Thomas, who, as he has told you, was associated with me in approaching people to act as observers, that according to Mr. Nichols of your staff the basis for the P.U.A. thinking that we were acting as a front in this matter is that the suggestion that there be "observers" came from Mr. Simon Werson who was in charge of publicity at the C.P. convention. Mr. Thomas in his letter to you has disposed of the charge that if the idea did originate with Mr. Werson this made a "fronter" of any one who considered the idea had merit.

However, the fact of the matter is that the idea did not originate with Mr. Werson or any other Communist. It was first mentioned by one of my fellow-pacifists in my own room. It was tentatively mentioned to a couple of C.P. leaders as an idea they might explore with their colleagues. I undertook at the same time to discuss the idea with well known civil libertarians such as Norman Thomas and Roger N. Baldwin in order to check on the validity of the idea. Finding that the idea seemed meritorious, we proceeded.

If the idea that Mr. Verson originated the project was reported to you as a fact by one of your agents or another person, the report -- whether by design or unintentional error -- was false. If the idea that Mr. Verson was the originator was an inference, it was completely erroneous.

The conditions on which persons were asked if they wished to sit in as "observers" were the following: 1) observers should be persons known as opponents of Communism and as not identified with "united fronts"; 2) they should also have some record of concern for civil liberties of minority groups; 3) there was to be no veto by the C.P. of anyone asked to be an observer; 4) observers were not in effect to serve as reporters during the convention, since unfortunately reporters were not admitted to the sessions; but after the convention all observers were to be completely free jointly or individually to make any kind of reports, write any evaluations they saw fit, etc., with no censorship whatever.

The allegation in your statement to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that some observers were "handpicked" in a sense in which others such as Mr. Rachlin were not, is completely contrary to fact. All persons were approached by Mr. Thomas or myself directly or through an intermediary. (It should be put in the record that a number of persons who were approached, who thought it a good idea, and wished to participate, declined to do so because they feared that might be precisely the kind of comment which you have in fact made and they did not wish to expose the institutions with which they were connected to the embarrassment which this causes in the atmosphere which still too largely prevails in this country and which it is presumably the duty of the Department of Justice to combat. If the Department is not in fact charged with the defense of the Constitution and in particular the Bill of Rights, what is its function?)

Among those who were contacted in the matter was Mr. George Mundquist of the New York Civil Liberties Union. He indicated to me that he was looking for two or three board members of the N.Y. C.L.U. to act as "observers" and a day or two before the Convention reported to me that Mr. Carl Rachlin and Mr. Migdol were prepared to serve. Mr. Rachlin and Mr. Migdol received invitations by wire from the National Committee of the Communist Party to whom I gave their names and addresses in the same way precisely as anyone else who indicated readiness to participate in the project.

Your statement about the difference between Mr. Rachlin's evaluation of the Convention and that of the eight observers, including myself, who issued a joint statement after Mr. Rachlin's appearance before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, is very vague. I cannot but think that on second thought you will agree with me that important government officials, if they speak on such matters at all, should seek to be specific and scrupulously accurate. Your statement gives the impression that the eight vouched for it that the Communist Party had become democratic. I am enclosing herewith... a copy of the Statement of Eight Observers, which you may well not have seen before you wrote your statement. You will note that we report that the sessions we attended were democratically conducted and we cited illustrations. We also express the view that the conflict within the Party could not be dismissed -- to use Mr. Hachlin's terminology -- as "merely tactical and designed to fool the public". I may parenthetically record my personal opinion that, in view of what has happened in recent months in the Communist movement in Poland, Hungary, Russia itself, and for that matter in the Communist ranks in the United States, for any one on serious reflection to regard all this as an elaborately contrived stage play he must be entirely incapable of judging political developments or engaged in a calculated attempt to create a distorted impression.

However, the eight observers specifically stated that they suspended judgment as to whether the C.P.U.S.A. had achieved independence of Moscow and was moving toward democratic socialism. We stated that in view of the very admissions made by the Convention as to past crimes and errors, only the actual behavior of Communists and the Communist Party could furnish a basis for judging what was really happening.

It is difficult not to regard it as a gratuitous insult that the impression should be given that persons such as Dorothy Day of the Catholic Worker, George Willoughby, a friend and director of the Central Committee for Conscientious Objectors, Alfred Hasler, head of the literature department of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, Lyle Tatum, a member of the Staff of the American Friends Service Committee, Roy Finch and Bayard Rustin, of the War Resisters League, Dr. Stringfellow Barr, and Bernard Rosenberg would be participants in anything which involved "handpicking". They are all persons known for their integrity and independence of character. May I in particular call your attention to the fact that Mr. Rosenberg, one of the editors of Dissent magazine, who was "picked" in exactly the same way as everyone else, not only did not join in the statement of eight observers, but made his own declaration, critical of my position, in a letter to the New York Post, something which he had every right to do.

Probably the most deplorable and ominous feature of your statement is that an office-holder of your standing and prestige should inferentially attach the label of "fronting" for Communists to the nearly fifty-distinguished Americans, known for their opposition to Communism, who in 1955 signed a petition relating to Communists convicted under the Smith Act. This means attaching this label to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Norman Thomas, the dean of Union Theological Seminary, the dean of the Chapel at Columbia University, the dean of the Boston University School of Theology and others listed in the brochure enclosed herewith. I hope you will note carefully the contents of the petition, including the dissenting opinions of distinguished Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, on which the petition was largely based.

Any citizen is, of course, entitled to criticize the signers of such a petition but labelling them as "fronters" because they exercise their right to petition is not legitimate criticism. For an officer of the Department of Justice in any way to call in question the right to petition, not to speak of labelling those who exercise it as "frontiers", seems to me a violation of trust and the kind of action which gravely jeopardizes our democratic institutions.

This leads me, without any animosity toward you personally, Mr. Hoover, to raise two questions. In the first place, I am under the impression that according to your own statements it is the function of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to gather information, not to deliver judgments or to attempt to "give the party line", so to speak, to Congressional Committees or the general public. Have you not in this instance departed from this policy?

In the next place, if a person in your position is to speak at all in such matters, should he not refrain from stigmatizing individuals who are not on trial, who have not been charged with any violation of law, and who obviously have no such access to channels of publicity as you have? It is my impression that in recent years, as the result of the reaction of countless citizens against the excesses and atrocities of McCarthyism, Congressional investigating committees have been at some pains not to give out names of citizens who were questioned at least until there was some basis for legal charges against them. To what pass have we come if a single individual -- and he the head of the F.B.I. presumably charged in a special and delicate manner with the protection of citizens against attack and the defense of our liberties -- can make charges against an individual in the casual manner that you have used in this case?

I raise this question not, except in a very minor degree, on my own behalf. I do have some means of publicity and a long public record of being open and above board in what I do, whatever views people may hold as to my behavior. Moreover, I have the inward protection of knowing that in what I have done and said in these matters I have acted in accordance with the Christian faith and teaching which I profess. We are taught in the Scriptures of that faith that it is the business of those who have influence or power to be especially considerate of the weak and to "take care not to d'fend one of these little ones". There are, alas, a good many people in this country who have little if any means to defend themselves who have been injured, materially and spiritually, by those who have power and prestige.

It is necessary to add one final word about a matter which may come up in subsequent discussion. During the past year and a half I have been somewhat prominently involved in the process of promoting untrammeled political discussion from which no tendencies, including Communist spokesmen, are excluded. Sometimes these discussions have been under the auspices of the fellowship of reconciliation when they have served a clear civil liberties purpose; sometimes not. I think that in insisting that all views should be publicly heard I am true to one of the most basic of American traditions. I think that in insisting on the other hand, as I have done, that Communists must not try to evade the public discussion of any issue, I am far from "front ing" for them. To this day I have maintained my position of not engaging in "united action" with Communists, except in this strictly limited sense of arranging for the frank and serious discussion by spokesmen of all political tendencies of all important political questions. I recognize, of course, the right of any citizen to criticize this procedure, but I am personally convinced that this is a service to truth and to the cause of freedom which is sorely beset in many parts of the world today.

I hope that I may hear from you. If you should have time to discuss these matters with me on a personal basis, I should appreciate it. I should perhaps make it clear that I am conscientiously opposed to responding to summons to appear before any government official or agency engaged in investigating the political or religious opinions of myself or others.

Sincerely yours,

A PETITION

To the President of the United States
On Amnesty for Smith Act Victims and Postponement of Trials

Dear Mr. President:

We respectfully urge you to grant an amnesty commuting the sentences of sixteen men and women now in prison under the Smith Act (Alien Registration Act 1940) to time already served, and to use your influence to secure the postponement of the trials in the 180 cases presently awaiting Trial Court or Appeals Court decisions on the Act.

Those who present this petition are in fundamental disagreement with the philosophy of the Communist Party and with essential elements in its program and are motivated in their present action by their attachment to the democratic way of life and the desire to maintain and strengthen it.

We call attention to Supreme Court Justice Black's description of the charter of the Smith Act and the trial of Communist Party leaders under it in his dissenting opinion when appeal from the convictions under it was before the Supreme Court:

"At the outset I want to emphasize what the crime involved in this case is and what it is not. These petitioners are not charged with an attempt to overthrow the government. They were not charged with non-verbal acts of any kind designed to overthrow the government. They were not even charged with saying or writing anything designed to overthrow the government.

"The charge was that they agreed to assemble and talk and publish certain ideas at a later date..."

"...The indictment is that they conspired to organize the Communist Party and to speak to newspapers and other publications in the future to teach and advocate forcible overthrow of the government."

Recently the Supreme Court itself, by agreeing to review the California Smith Act prosecutions, has recognized the appropriateness of a "second look" at the act.

Among the sixteen for whom we are requesting a Christmas amnesty are old and ill persons. The indictments and convictions in these cases were carried through period of the "cold war" and in an atmosphere often marked by hysteria. Fortunately recent months conditions have changed for the better and there is a noticeable trend reaffirming the basic democratic traditions of our country.

It is our conviction that your acquiescence in our request would serve to give further impetus to this healthy trend, would give proof of our confidence in democratic institutions, would encourage and inspire our friends throughout the world and win friends. Thus, we believe, it would also contribute toward peace in the world about which you are so deeply concerned and would be in line with the policy you set forth through Secretary of State Dulles on Nov. 18, 1955:

"I know that no setback, no obstacle to progress will ever deter this Government and our people from the great effort to establish just and durable peace."

Public opinion being what it is, few will protest the conviction of the Communist agitators. There is hope, however, that in later times, when present pressures, plights and fears subside, this or some later suit will restore the First Amendment liberties to the high preferred place where they belong in a free society.

J. S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, in a dissenting opinion in a Smith Act case in 1951.

Distinguished Supreme Court Justices viewed the Smith Act with apprehension:

"The doctrine of conspiracy has served divers and oppressive purposes, and its broad reach can be made to do great evil. But never until today has anyone seriously thought that the ancient law of conspiracy could constitutionally be used to turn speech into seditious conduct. Not a single seditious act is charged in the indictment. To make a speech unlawful because two men conceived it, is to raise the law of conspiracy to appalling proportions."

- U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, in his dissent in the same case.

The following petition (see inside) was sent to President Eisenhower on December 20, 1955, on behalf of the signers listed above. A large number of the signatures for copies of the petition and list of signatures for wider distribution has been received, and also the number of names and in a considerable number of cases has been assembled, transmit them to the President and the press.

A. J. Muste 21 Audubon Avenue New York 32, N. Y.
The undersigned were "observers" at the recent Communist Party convention in New York attending one or several and in the case of some of us all sessions. The initiative for the project of having some non-Communist citizens who are in fundamental disagreement with much of Communist philosophy and program, present at the Convention and free afterward to report in any way they wished, came from A.J. Muste and others, with strong support from Norman Thomas. The suggestion was conveyed to officers of the Communist Party and accepted by them. They issued invitations to persons suggested by Mr. Muste.

Since reference has been made to these matters in the press and elsewhere, we wish to state that the sessions of the Convention were democratically conducted with vigorous discussion of all matters brought to the floor. There were many indications that no individual or group was in a position to control the convention. All documents coming out of convention committees were made available in mimeographed form to delegates and observers, and were made available to the press immediately after the delegates had acted upon them. The votes on divisions in committees were reported to the delegates. So far as we could tell, Robert's Rules of Order and the Rules adopted by the convention for its own conduct were scrupulously carried out. Nominations for twenty out of sixty members of the incoming National Committee were made from the floor. There were forty-six nominations for the 20 positions. The votes were widely scattered, with no one receiving more than about seventy per cent of the votes and the highest votes going to others than nationally known leaders who would presumably have been unanimously elected at old style Communist conventions.

As the press reported, the former national secretary, Eugene Dennis, in his opening report rejected the proposals of the French Communist, Jacques Duclos, on certain key issues such as the primacy of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union. Duclos has been regarded as an important channel for conveying the views of the Soviet Communist leaders to western Parties.

RE: PATRONATO DE AYUDA AL PUEBLO ESPAÑOL

SYNOPSIS

Under auspices of PATRONATO, the Second Conference of AYUDA AL PUEBLO ESPAÑOL celebrated January 20, 1946, purpose being to organize financial campaign which began February 11, 1946, and terminated May 6, 1946, with total of $62,718.05 collected. Communist Senator JUAN MARTELLO received and delivered to PATRONATO $5,148.42 contributed at anniversary celebration of Spanish Republic at Manhattan Center, New York City on April 7, 1946. Executive Committee of PATRONATO set out. FELIX MONTIEL, Treasurer of PATRONATO, reportedly planning trip to Toulouse, France.

INVESTIGATIVE DETAILS

The following information concerning the Second Conference of the "AYUDA AL PUEBLO ESPAÑOL" has been summarized from the January 26, 1946, issue of the weekly newspaper COSOTROS, the official organ of the Spanish Communist front "CASA LA CULTURA".

The Conference was held on January 20, 1946, in the "Calle Canticimos" in Habana, Cuba. The following is a list of the organizations and the number of delegates from each reported to have been in attendance during the Conference:

Those individuals whose names are followed by an asterisk have been classified by Reliable Source C as being Communists.

It was also agreed at the Conference to direct the following communications to the persons and organizations indicated:

1) A cable to the French Assembly, congratulating them upon their agreement to break relations with FRANCO.
2) A cable to the United Nations Organization in London asking that common action be taken against FRANCO.
3) Telegrams to RAMON GRAU (SAN MARTIN), the President of Cuba; one requesting the breaking of diplomatic relations with Spain and the other asking for intervention in an effort to secure the release and repatriation of the Cuban citizen SANTIAGO ALVAREZ and to offer the right of asylum to SEBASTIAN ZAPATI. (It is to be noted that these two Communists have recently been sentenced to 18 and 20 years imprisonment respectively by the FRANCO Government for acts against the Spanish State;)
4) A telegram to AGUSTIN CRUZ, Cuban Senator, congratulating him upon his efforts as head of the Cuban pro-Spanish Commission to secure the release and repatriation of the Cuban citizen SANTIAGO ALVAREZ.

It was also agreed at the Conference that all the organizations represented at this affair should direct cables to MRS. ELIZABETH MOOSELITY, requesting that she intervene in behalf of the release of SANTIAGO ALVAREZ.

Source C has advised that although the Extraordinary Campaign of 1946, designated always by the slogans "Arms for the Guerrillas" and "For the Spanish Republic" was supposed to have terminated on April 14th, which is the anniversary of the founding of the Second Spanish Republic, the Executive Committee of the PATRONATO decided to extend the campaign until May 6, 1946, simply because the contributions were still being received in considerable quantity. The minimum quota set, $12,000, was far exceeded. By the closing day of the campaign on May 6, 1946, a total of $63,718.00 had been collected.

A breakdown of the total amounts contributed by each of the provinces is as follows:

said it was bad on the part of the Americans to have a man like that in that position. * said the purpose of the conference was that citizens could make suggestions but that "they" didn't want to listen to any suggestions which might possibly lead to the Russians and us getting together on philosophy. * * agreed that it appeared that * * * whom they said testified to the fact that in five years there would only be ten percent of Americans left alive, would be in a nice "looney" house at that time. They then discussed the United Nations Forum meeting on March 31, 1947. * advised she didn't know if ELEANOR ROOSEVELT would be able to stay for the Forum, but that she was in Washington Friday and Saturday at the A.P.A. meeting. * said that she would love to have * * * come to dinner before the Forum meeting to meet Mrs. ROOSEVELT, but it couldn't be arranged.

* said she had a long talk with * * *.
She said that * * * feels that until we get a stronger United Nations we have to sacrifice just as much as Russia. * said she feels the important "honest to God" thing "to us" is not Greece democracy, but the Near East oil. * said we are grabbing it and we are afraid RUSIA will grab it from us so we invest four million dollars in Greece. * * said she thinks Russia ought to have a warm water port. * agreed with her. * said "in time of war Russia has always been in the position of being attacked because Turkey has always let Russia's enemies through, and it isn't a matter of internationalizing the port--the port has been 'internationalized all along and look what it has done to Russia'.

* said that if we want naval bases in Greece, we should let Russia have naval bases. * * * said, "Well, I think the worst thing we ever did was just grab off those .........." * said that's the kind of thing it causes war. They agreed to see each other again at the United Nations Forum.

UNITED NATIONS FORUM

* advised that the United Nations Forum had conferences at the Shoreham Hotel on March 17 and March 31, 1947, and that Mrs. ROOSEVELT spoke at the conference on March 17th, along with ALGER HISS. * * * has advised that ALGER HISS is a member of a Soviet espionage ring operating in the United States.
